On the Court's own motion, the Court orders that discovery is reopened and that Court of Appeals Judge Deborah A. Servitto is designated as special master in this original action for the purpose of overseeing additional discovery by the parties. The special master is charged with the duty, among others, of directing the parties to supplement the existing evidentiary record with documentary evidence demonstrating, among other facts, whether, in the 2007-2008 fiscal year, defendant's inspectors inspected all 15,740 improved commercial properties that do not use DPW waste collection services, and whether defendant's inspectors are on track to complete all required inspections in the 2008-2009 fiscal year. Further, the special master shall also direct defendant to provide the facts or data upon which their expert Mauricio Kohn based his opinion. MRE 703. The special master may authorize discovery on any other issue relevant to a resolution of the issues before the Court. The supplementation of the record may be accomplished by affidavit, interrogatories and answers thereto, depositions, a stipulated statement of settled facts or the presentation of other documentary evidence, including business records, as authorized by the special master.
